fishing, horseback riding, canoeing, rifle practice and picnics. The academic part which began in 1966 includes a daily hour of reading, 30 minutes of math and English and opportunities to learn how to use computers. (Photo by Russ Betcher)

Bay City Council organizing 'Warm Neighbor' program

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Plans for a "Warm Neighbor" program to assist needy persons with high utility bills is expected to be finalized Tuesday at the Bay St. Louis City Council's meeting.
The council has previously discussed implementing this program and Mayor Victor J. Frankiewicz will report to the council details to get the program underway.
In the program, utility bills being mailed after July 13 will include a place for customers to indicate their intention to contribute to this fund by adding a dollar to their utility payment, according to Frankiewicz.
"This extra dollar will go into a fund to help our needy customers and we are in the process of working with local charity organizations to set up a steering committee to decide how to distribute the money among needy customers to provide assistance in paying utility bills," he said.

"We know that costs of living are increasing and there will be a lot of people in need. This program will allow the people in the community to lend a helping hand," Frankiewicz said.

He reported there have been many inquiries about this type of program from utility customers who suggested it be established.

"A lot of customers are interested in donating and we expect the response to be very good," he continued.

Currently in the areas served by Entex Gas Company in Harrison

County, and New Orleans Public Service Inc. have similar programs to generate funds to assist the needy, he said.

The city of Bay St. Louis has approximately 3,100 utility customers but not all of the customers are expected to donate to this fund.

"By setting up the program now in the summer, we will be able to accumulate some funds before the colder months when gas bills are higher," Frankiewicz said.

The program is designed primarily to help with gas bills but in extremely rare cases funds may be used to pay other city utility bills for needy persons, he said.

"We do not expect to be allocating any of the money until the winter months and will be using the time between now and then to set up the program, build up the funds and draw up the proper guidelines," Frankiewicz added.

Wastewater board splits vote on $150,000 for county costs

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District, with objections from its Bay St. Louis representative, has agreed to lend Hancock County $150,000 if it is needed to cover title searches and appraisals on easements for a sewerage collection system.

The collection system will be the first publicly owned sewerage in the unincorporated parts of Hancock County other than small systems at Stennis Airport, Bayou Cadet and Port Blenville Industrial Park, which fall under the jurisdiction of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission.

The system will hook into a district improvement project that will eventually link the Waveland and Bay St. Louis sewerage systems with an expanded version of the existing Waveland treatment plant as the primary treatment facility.

The project is divided into four segments and is being funded with a combination of state, federal and local monies. The local shares of each segment are being paid by Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County on a scale based on who will be using the improvements in each segment.

According to Board Attorney Lucien Gex, title searches are now required for every easement obtained. The current rate attorneys charge for such work is $100 per parcel.

The board authorized Gex at a previous meeting to secure the services of additional attorneys to finish the title searches in time for an August funding deadline. Gex reported at Wednesday's meeting that he has been able to find attorneys who will charge only $50 per title search.

In addition, the district is required by law to inform residents who are asked for easements that they are entitled to appraisals.

Gex said that most of 640 residents are asking for appraisals, which vary in price.

According to Board of Supervisors President A.A. Kellar, who represents the county, the cost of both the title searches and the appraisals will fall into the county's part of the local share of the cost.

The supervisors have already committed $400,000 to the project, which must be repaid to the county general fund before the end of the current fiscal year Sept. 30.

The board had expected to have the money repaid through a reimbursement from state loan funds being administered through Farmers Home Administration.

District Administrator Ethel Schott said after the meeting that the earliest any FHMA funding could be expected would be October. The funding has been delayed, she explained.

In meetings with the two segment IV contractors, Cajun Construction of Baton Rouge, La., and Applied Construction of Jackson, prior to the regular meeting Wednesday, the board had found that the delay would not increase construction costs.

Cajun is the contractor for work on a pipeline from the collection system up Gulfside Drive to the plant. Applied will construct the plant improvements.

In making the motion to provide the money to the county, Board Chairman and Waveland representative John Longo Jr. stated that the $150,000 will come from $500,000 in windfall funds recently added to a state loan for an earlier segment. The district had not expected to receive the money, he said.

He said having to pay for appraisals and title searches would be a hardship on the county so late in the fiscal year.

Frankiewicz voted against providing the $150,000 to the county, stating that he wished to qualify his vote in the board's minutes.

Pair robs Delta clerk

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Bay St. Louis Police are seeking information on two suspects who robbed a clerk at the Delta Station on US-90 about 3 a.m. Friday morning.

Guy Anthony Copous, the clerk, was stocking coolers when a black male came up from behind and stuck some object in his back, according to Chief Detective David Murtagh.

Copous believes the object to have been a gun but he never saw it, Murtagh added.

As Copous was being detained by the black male, another suspect entered the store and tried unsuccessfully to open the cash register.

The suspects fled the site on foot in a westerly direction toward a wooded area with Copous' wallet containing $126, he said.

The empty wallet was found approximately 100 feet from the store near the edge of the wooded area.

Murtagh said there are no suspects at this time but fingerprints

Motorcyclist remains hospitalized after bike catches fire in crash

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Kiln man burned when his motorcycle caught fire in a crash Tuesday remains hospitalized at Hancock Medical Center.

According to Mary Perkins, hospital community relations director, Albert Spadoni was scheduled to be transferred out of intensive care on Saturday. He had suffered first and second degree burns over 20 percent of his body, mostly on his chest and back above the waist.

Diana Johnson of Waveland, who had been a passenger on the Kawasaki motorcycle, had received minor burns on the right arm and was treated and released.

State Trooper David Kenney, who investigated the accident, credited bystanders with keeping Spadoni from further injury.

The accident occurred at about 4:45 p.m. in front of Kiln Library on Highway 603, Kenney said.

According to a witness, library employee Kay Wolfe, a car carrying two female library patrons began turning into the library parking lot. Behind their car was a pick-up hauling a boat on a trailer, which Wolfe said apparently had no brake lights.

Wolfe stated that the pick-up stopped to allow the car ahead to turn and that Spadoni, who was behind the trailer, had to veer into the library parking lot to avoid the stopped vehicle.

She said he hit the gravel in the lot at "a speed he would normally be doing on the highway" and the motorcycle turned over sideways.

The passenger fell off the back of the bike as it turned over.

"When it went over on its side, there was an instant burst of flames. He had no chance to get off the bike," Wolfe said.

"His T-shirt burned right off his body," she stated.

Kenney explained that the motorcycle's battery fell out and caused sparks, which apparently ignited fuel that leaked out of the tank as the bike fell.

Wolfe added that one of the women who had just entered the parking lot got out of her vehicle and began throwing sand on Spadoni, then the other joined her and they extinguished the flames.

"There was nothing else in the parking lot to use. You know in the summer you don't have anything. In winter we might have found a coat or a blanket," she said.

She said the two women then transported the injured people to Hancock Medical Center in their vehicle rather than take the time to summon and wait for an ambulance.

"They did a wonderful job," she commented.

"They acted very quickly and had the situation under control," Kenney said.

"The library was full of children at the time and of course they all went to the front door. I wanted to get them to the back of the library in case of some type of explosion," Wolfe added.

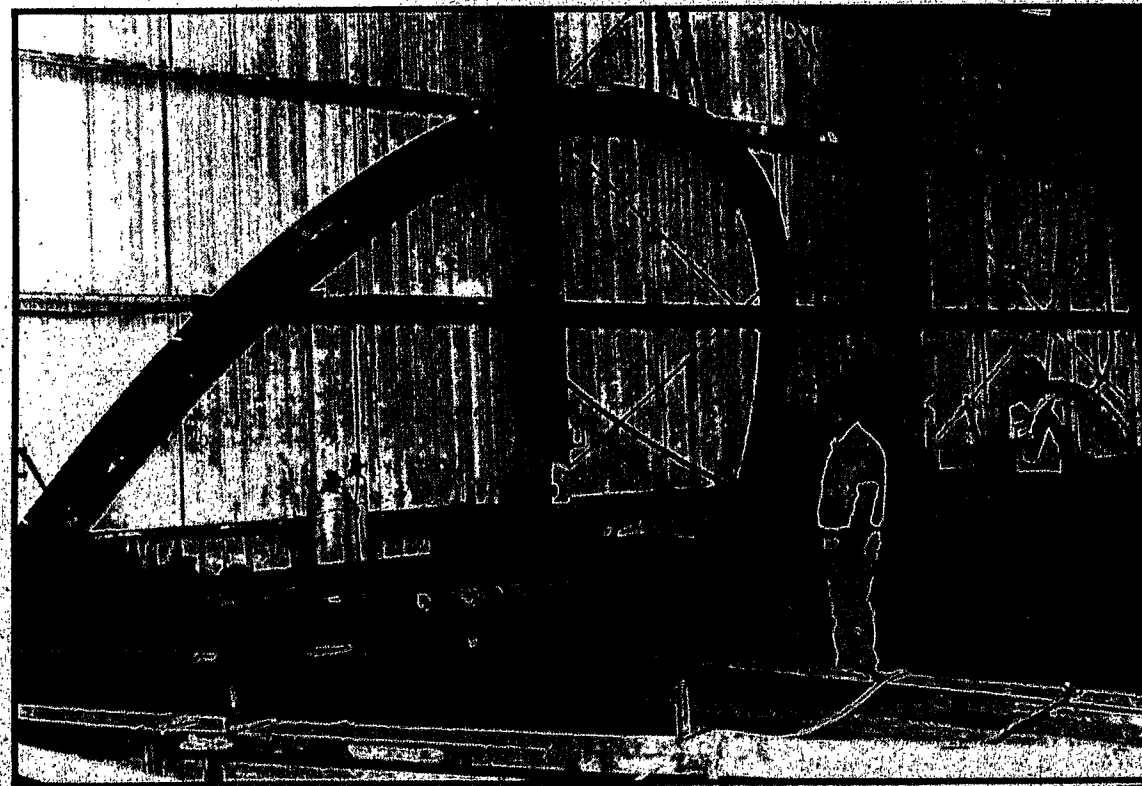

The library's front wall has a large glass window and glass doors and she said she was worried that children might be injured by flying glass.

Kiln Volunteer Fire Department extinguished the fire on the motorcycle itself.

"There was nothing left of his bike," Wolfe said.

Kenney said there was not any chance of finding the pick-up and trailer that had stopped in front of Spadoni, because the driver did not stop.

Wolfe said she could not tell if the driver of the pick-up was aware the motorcycle was behind him.

PAPAL ALTAR—Blenville Steel, Inc. workers are busy at the Port Blenville Industrial Park building the altar which will be used by Pope John Paul II on his September visit to New Orleans. Those in photo with a small section of the altar are, from left, Marvin Johnston and Steve Munson. Shop foreman Joe

Livaudais said the structure, 44 by 64 feet, will weigh some 75-80 tons when completed. Johnny Hauser, Blenville Steel president reported his firm will prefabricate the steel altar and ship it to New Orleans via truck for assembly. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

$500 penalty expected to discourage "frivolous" returns

In an attempt to discourage the filing of tax protester returns based on arguments that have been repeatedly struck down by the courts, a $500 penalty may be imposed upon the filers of such returns, the Internal Revenue Service has announced.

As part of the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982, this penalty applies in addition to any other penalty provided by law.

The penalty may be imposed on any individual taxpayer who, in furtherance of a frivolous position or in an attempt to delay or impede administration of federal income tax laws, files a purported tax return which fails to contain information from which the correctness of the tax liability can be judged, or that clearly indicates that the tax liability shown is substantially incorrect.

According to the IRS, the penalty is a useful deterrent against a wide variety of illegal tax protester ploys which have clogged IRS administrative channels and the nation's already overcrowded court dockets.

Some examples of protester activities the penalty was designed to counter include:

- 1) Filing of irregular forms which cannot be processed;
- 2) Spurious constitutional claims such as objections based on the Fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination—instead of required completion of a tax return;
- 3) Forms which list clearly inconsistent information, such as a person listing only a few dependents but claiming 99 exemptions.

4) Forms that argue that Federal Reserve notes are not legal dollars because they are not backed by silver or gold, and are therefore non-taxable, and

5) "War tax" deductions.
In addition to instituting the frivolous return penalty, the Act also increased several criminal penalties for Federal tax law violations, including:

1) Increase of the maximum fine for the attempt to willfully evade or defeat tax from $10,000 and/or five years imprisonment to $100,000 for individuals ($500,000 for corporations) and/or five years imprisonment.

2) Increase of the maximum fine for willful failure to file a return, supply information, or pay tax from $10,000 and/or one year imprisonment to $25,000 for individuals ($100,000 for corporations) and/or one year imprisonment.

3) Increase of the maximum fine for fraud and false statements from $5,000 and/or three years imprisonment to $100,000 for individuals ($500,000 for corporations) and/or three years imprisonment; and

4) Increase of the maximum fine for filing fraudulent returns, statements or other documents from $1,000 and/or one year imprisonment to $10,000 for individuals ($50,000 for corporations) and/or one year imprisonment.

ELECT MICHAEL (MIKE) LADNER SUPERVISOR DISTRICT 5

In reference to an article which appeared in Section C of the Sun Herald, dated June 30, 1987 and Sea Coast Echo, dated July 2, 1987, "Hancock wants equal exchanges for phones." Hancock County Supervisors want more of their constituents to be able to call Gulfport toll free. It is truly amazing how fast our Hancock County Board of Supervisors can move prior to a general county election on such a special issue as the telephone exchange system.

Mike Ladner, a candidate for District 5 Supervisor, brought the telephone issue up at the beginning of his campaign and for over a month has been telling voters of this issue. Why have the Supervisors waited all these years before acting?

Ladner states, "I'm happy to see the Board of Supervisors act on one of my campaign issues. This shows what can be accomplished when elected officials listen to the voters as I have promised to do. If anyone in District 5 knows of a problem or a way to improve operations, please feel free to contact me before or after the August 4th primary election."

RENTING VERSUS BUYING
Question: I continue to kick around the idea of buying a place to live instead of paying rent month after month. Any suggestions? R. D., McComb

Answer: Dear R.D.:
The topic of renting versus buying is popular on radio, television, and in the newspapers.

The proponents of renting state their case or the columnist dutifully lists the advantages of renting, and the proponents of buying counter by advancing their theories.

Occasionally, impressive looking rent-versus-buy analysis forms are used to qualify and compare the two alternatives.

Who wins usually depends upon the vested interests of the designer of the forms. The apartment owner convincingly uses the forms to demonstrate that renting is definitely the best alternative.

Conversely, the broker who sells homes is just as convincing in arriving at the opposite conclusion. Unfortunately, many people try to compare the high costs of owning a 12-room house with the low cost of renting a six-room apartment.

Obviously, comparing apples to oranges is seldom enlightening.

In addition, any attempt to quantify or measure the value of pride, independence, civic responsibility, and the other nonquantifiable advantages of home ownership or the nonquantifiable advantages of renting would be a gross oversimplification.

In short, there is no "correct" answer to the rent-versus-buy decision.

How, then, can one attach any credence to such oversimplified comparisons? A more realistic approach would require the individual to compare the satisfaction gained from tenancy in relation to its cost against the satisfaction derived from home ownership against its cost.

The satisfaction derived from renting or owning may be monetary or nonmonetary, just as the cost may be.

The satisfaction derived and costs incurred will vary from individual to individual.

Communicate to enjoy your teenager

In a recent survey of American teenagers, one of the most common complaints among the group was a feeling that their parents didn't listen to them or understand them.

Although there is no one single action that can resolve these feelings, there are some suggestions adults can follow to keep the lines of communication open and establish a "listening and understanding" relationship.

Be honest. Teens tend to be skeptical of what adults tell them; they welcome your honesty. Tell them how you feel about the situation.

Be open. Teens need to know that some of the same concerns they struggle with are concerns of adults, too.

Be clear and consistent when setting limits. Adults may have to acknowledge they cannot control what the adolescent does away from them. But the adult needs to make clear that they will not allow certain behaviors while the teen is the responsibility of that adult and then follow through with that limit.

A youth is a person who is going to carry on what you have started. They are going to sit where you are sitting and attend to those things which you think are important. You may adopt all the policies you please, but how they will be carried out depends on the youth.

They will assume control of your duties, states and nation. They are going to move in and take over churches, schools, universities and corporations.

All your books are going to be judged, praised and condemned by them. The fate of humanity is in their hands. So it might be well to pay them some attention. Learn to enjoy your teenager.

A Great Pyrenees

Farmer's discovery of dog ends sheep-killing foray

By Jimmy Bonner
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

It left a bad taste in John Ruth's mouth when he found that a pack of dogs has wiped out his entire sheep herd two years ago.

The sad thing was that if Ruth had known about a certain breed of dogs beforehand, he probably would have never lost his sheep.

Now, with a Great Pyrenees keeping vigil over a new sheep herd, the Quitman County farmer no longer worries about dogs or any other predator even coming near his flock.

Although Ruth has never had a chance to see his dog in action—that is, attack an intruder—he has no doubt what the outcome would be.

"I haven't even seen a dog on the place since we got 'Pooch' in the summer of 1985," said Ruth, who farms cotton and soybean near Marks. "Those problems are over."

Ruth got his Great Pyrenees while on a sheep-hunting trip to the Missouri State Fair. Only weeks earlier, the destruction of his entire herd of 18 sheep left him wondering if he ever wanted to raise sheep again.

"That really left me with a bitter taste," he said. "I had decided, that's it. I don't want any more of sheep raising."

Ruth was on an out-of-state visit in the summer of 1985 when his father called to tell him a group of German Shepherds had killed all his sheep.

"The dogs didn't eat the sheep, they just killed them," Ruth said. "There was a man living close by and he never heard a sound. Sheep won't put up any kind of fight."

Ruth had similar problems in the past with hunting dogs attacking his sheep. Although he never lost any sheep on these occasions, Ruth knew the danger was real. He put up electric fences and took other measures as protection, all to no avail.

Ruth learned about a breed of dogs that would protect sheep from predators and renewed his interest in sheep. He bought an eight-week-old Great Pyrenees pup at the Missouri State Fair for $220. He said prices usually range from $200 to $400.

"The people who sold it to me said

I could either have a pet or a watch dog, depending on what I wanted," he said. "If you want a pet, they said, let it in the house and treat it like a pet. If you want a work dog, put it with the sheep."

Ruth needed a dog to protect his sheep more than his children, Jennifer and John III, needed another pet. He put the puppy with the sheep he had bought.

Ruth found that the Great Pyrenees need no training in knowing how to handle sheep. The breed, which originated in the Pyrenees Mountains between France and Spain, has almost unbelievable mothering instinct.

"The dog will bring a newborn lamb that's born out in the pasture up to us," Ruth said. "She will even bring rabbits and kittens up to where we keep the sheep. She lives with the sheep and acts like them. I think the dog actually believes she is a sheep."

With her massive, cream-colored fur coat—it looks and feels more like wool than hair—the dog looks much like a sheep. She follows the sheep around, always keeping them in sight. She does almost everything the sheep do, including sleeping with them.

All this is a great help to Ruth, who with a full-fledged farm doesn't have the time to check on the sheep constantly or herd them up at night. With the dog, none of that is necessary.

With its quiet temperament and droopy tail, the dog looks anything but ferocious. But while the 90-pound dog is gentle with children and animals that pose no threat to the sheep, the friendliness ends with any animals that may harm the flock.

"Some dogs were chasing a coyote near our farm recently," Ruth said. "When they came near our place, they all turned and headed in another direction."

Ruth said he doesn't know what it is about the dog that apparently strikes terror in the hearts of would-be sheep-killing dogs. His only concern is that it does.

Ruth said a Great Pyrenees purebred dog can be identified by what is called a sixth toe on the inside of each back leg about six in-

Steve Nelms, Quitman County agent with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, said to his knowledge Ruth's Great Pyrenees is the only one in the area. Nelms and Extension Youth Agent Jimmy McLain work with the Ruths and their farm.

Ruth's interest in sheep goes back to his children, who like to show the animals in the 4-H livestock project. Both help train the sheep and have won several ribbons and prizes in the shows. Ruth said he just became attached to the sheep.

"It's amazing how animals that you take care of will show it," he said. "Of course, there is also the income from the wool."

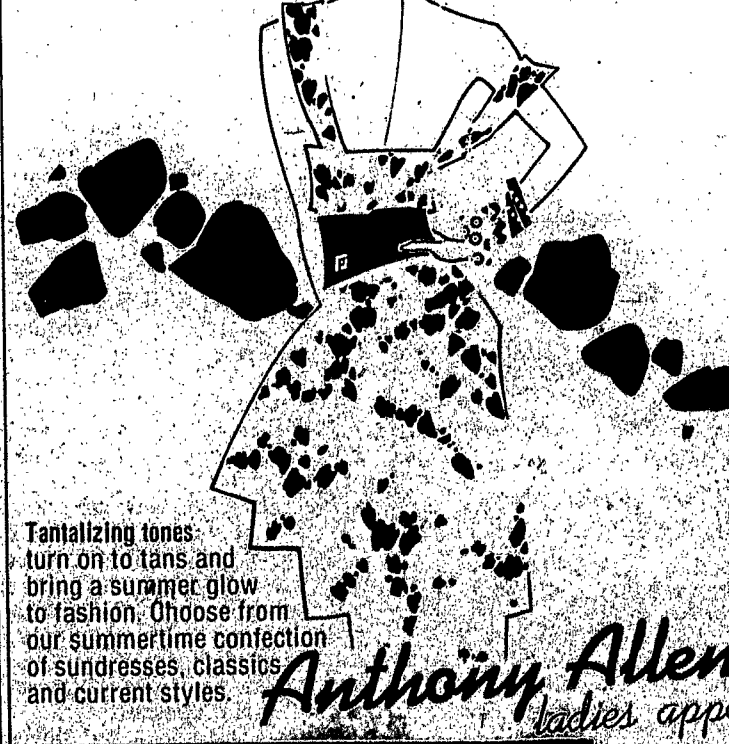

Ruth has built his new herd into 27 sheep and plans to continue raising them even after the children are too old to show the animals in livestock shows. He hopes to eventually have about 50 females.

For anyone who has sheep and worries about them or who plans to have sheep, Ruth hopes his experience can spare them some of the anguish he went through when dogs wiped out his flock.

"Just get a Great Pyrenees," he said. "That will be the end of your problems with dogs."

Consumer Update

By Janet K. Lukens

It's important for newlyweds to have a frank discussion about money before marriage. It's equally important and possibly more complicated for those contemplating a second marriage. These "newlyweds" will not only bring different backgrounds and experiences to their marriage but may also bring assets and liabilities that could complicate their financial picture.

To ease the transition from "my money" to "our money", the couple should discuss their long- and short-term financial goals. This would be a good time to discuss saving and spending habits and attitudes toward future financial changes such as children, not working, or early retirement. Try to understand your partner's habits and ideas and compromise on any areas of disagreement.

Continue your discussion by sharing your current financial status. A balance sheet of each individual's overall assets and liabilities will help each get a picture of the financial situation. Decide whether each will be responsible for paying off his own previous incurred debts or if debts will be repaid as part of your joint obligations. Debts that surface after the wedding, especially from a previous marriage, can be a source of resentment. Likewise, take a look at assets. Who will hold title to property? When children or ex-spouses are involved, it is especially important that ownership and heirs of assets are clear from the start.

Take a look at the credit situation. If either partner has had credit or perhaps a bankruptcy in his/her past, it is best that accounts be separate. If credit is kept in separate names, a bad credit history should not effect the other spouse's record. Even if credit and bank accounts will be joint for the most part, it is best that each keep their own separate credit identities. At least one charge card in each of your names is usually recommended. The woman should use her first name (not Mrs. John Johnson) when applying for credit.

Ambulance service membership a must July is once again membership month for Mobile Medic Ambulance Service for the coming year.

Extended service will be offered by Mobile Medic Ambulance Service which will begin year number 14 in August covering Hancock and West Harrison County.

Mobile Medic and Amserv have joined forces to give the residents of Hancock, Harrison and Jackson Counties year-round protection for the cost of one membership.

By joining one ambulance service you become a member of both services offered in the three Mississippi coastal counties.

Membership fee for a family is $39 (same as the last four years, and now you become a member of two ambulance services), which includes service for husband, wife and children under age of 21 at home.

During the period of August 1986 through June 1987, Mobile Medic responded to 1,727 calls in Hancock County.

These calls were in such areas as Necaise Crossing, Leetown, Rocky Hill, Kiln, Standard, Diamondhead, Pearlinton, Ansley, Lakeshore, Clermont Harbor, Waveland, Bay St. Louis and all points in between.

We at the newspaper probably get an opportunity to see Mobile Medic in action more than the average citizen because of our coverage of accidents in the county.

The efficiency of Mobile Medic has continuously improved over the years, credited in no small measure to the continuing education of the ambulance attendants.

The benefits of the $39 membership are unmatched when you consider a non-member would pay from $200 to $450 for services for a single in-county call. The amount of the charges for a non-member depends on the type of a call and uses of supplies.

We know many people feel they are not old enough to worry about needing ambulance services, but one must realize many of the calls over the years have been for very young children and teenagers involved in accidents.

We realize many residents may say their insurance will cover the cost for ambulance service. This is true in some cases, but most of the time personal insurance only covers a portion of ambulance services.

We never know what time of the day or night we may need the service, no matter what our age.

July is the only month to subscribe at the low rate of $39 per family. You can get a coupon from an advertisement in this issue of The Sea Coast Echo.

We hope you won't need their services for the coming year, but if you need them and have a family membership, you will save many dollars.

Don't forget, a membership in Mobile Medic also means one in Amserv also.

Move to upgrade VA underway

WASHINGTON — In a major bipartisan effort, over thirty senior members of Congress from both sides of Capitol Hill have written to President Reagan asking him to support legislation that would elevate the Veterans Administration from an agency to a Cabinet level department.

Identical measures have been introduced in the House and Senate to authorize the change. The House measure, H.R. 1707, has over 150 cosponsors; 21 senators are cosponsoring S. 533.

Rep. Gerald Solomon (R-NY), the author of the House bill, said that, with White House support, the legislation could be on the President's desk by Veterans Day 1987, "a perfect time for such a fitting tribute to our Nation's veterans."

"We're not talking about government expansion or big spending," stressed Rep. G. V. "Sonny" Montgomery (D-MS), Chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee. "We're simply talking about giving veterans greater access to the White House and the decision-making process that greatly affects them and their families," he said.

"Granting cabinet status to the Veterans Administration will provide better representation to America's 27.7 million veterans and their 51 million survivors and dependents. America's veterans have earned the right to be heard at the highest level of the American government," reads the letter.

The group noted that the VA is larger than the Department of State, Interior, Labor, Commerce, Education, Transportation, Energy, Housing and Urban Development, or Justice. The agency operates on an annual budget exceeding $27 billion, administers the largest health care delivery system in the free world, and ranks second only to the Department of Defense in number of personnel with over 244 thousand employees.

I have never seen as many people at one time registering to vote as I did on Friday morning in the Hancock County Circuit Clerk's office.

This is good, and we are happy more people are taking an active part in our governmental process.

We feel assured the people who took the time to register during the past month will be out in force on election day casting their ballots for the candidates of their choice.

John Rutherford, Circuit Clerk, reports his staff will be busy the next few days logging the new voters on the rolls.

The deadline for registration for the August 4 primaries was on Friday, but, in case you did not get a chance to register, you still have time to register in order to vote in the Second Primary on August 18.

We are hoping everyone will remember election day on August 4.

The holiday weekend is just about over with now, yet there are still a few activities underway today.

The Annual Blessing of the Fleet is scheduled this afternoon at 2 p.m. at Bayou Cadet.

The Our Lady of the Gulf Crab Festival in Bay St. Louis continues through today.

St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church's Annual Church Fair also is scheduled for today.

And today is the final day for the Mississippi Gulf Coast Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo with headquarters at the Rice Pavilion in Gulfport.

So, a person looking for something to do has many choices today.

Have a good holiday.

Mississippi Economic Council

State business leaders are concerned that the passage of 10 tort reform measures in neighboring Alabama may adversely affect business development in Mississippi.

Bob Pittman, president of the Mississippi Economic Council, said Alabama's success in enacting several tort reform measures might give that state an edge in attracting industries.

"We must have tort reform in Mississippi or we will be losing more of our potential business to our neighbors," he said.

The Louisiana Legislature also is considering tort reform measures during the current legislative session.

Several tort reform bills proposed in Mississippi during this year's session were rejected in House committee after having passed the Senate.

The measures pushed by MEC and 38 other business organizations included provisions to end joint and several liability, reduce the statute of limitations from six years to three years, and set penalties for frivolous lawsuits.

Some of these same issues were dealt with by the Alabama Legislature, as well as others.

The bills signed by the governor in Alabama contained provisions to inform the jury when a third party pays medical bills; cap punitive damages at $250,000 in most cases; treat out-of-state corporations the same as those in-state; allow the judge to transfer a case to another county for convenience; require the jury to itemize its damage award, with past and punitive damages paid in a lump sum, and future damages paid through periodic payments; allow the court to assess court costs and attorneys fees for frivolous lawsuits; repeal the ten percent penalty for losing an appeal; repeal the rule requiring only a "scintilla" of evidence to sue; and several limitations in medical malpractice cases.

The malpractice provisions include a cap of $1 million for wrongful death actions; a cap of $400,000 for noneconomic damages; that future damages in excess of $150,000 be paid in periodic payments; establishment of qualifications for expert witnesses; and establishment of counter-suit procedures.

Pittman said MEC, the state's largest organization of business, industry and professional leaders, will continue its fight for tort reform in the 1988 legislative session in Mississippi.

Glamorous suntans early grave risks

NEW ORLEANS—Each summer, millions of Americans rush to the beaches for a "healthy and glowing" look from the sun's rays, but fail to realize they stand a one in 100 chance of getting the most dreaded of all skin cancers—malignant melanoma.

Dreaded because it spreads so quickly, has the lowest cure rate and may not show up for years. Of the 500,000 new cases of skin cancer this year, nearly 26,000 people will get malignant melanoma.

About 6,000 will die.

For some people, though, the sun's rays may not be the only factor associated with contracting melanoma, reports Dr. Marilyn Ray, a dermatologist at the Ochsner Medical Institutions in New Orleans.

"Research now shows that your chance of getting malignant melanoma is 50 percent higher if a family member has had the disease. It's a new wrinkle in the knowledge about skin cancer, which occurs in one in seven people in the U.S.," says Ray.

"If someone in your family has had a lot of moles, particularly malignant ones, there's a good chance you'll develop melanomas."

In the 1930's, before tanning was popular, one in 1,500 persons contracted malignant melanoma. This year, one in 100 will contract this vicious form of cancer. "The numbers are frightening and point out that malignant melanoma is no longer rare," Ray states.

People also more likely to develop the disease are those who have had a melanoma in the past, unusual moles on the skin, changing moles, fair skin, light hair and eye color, those who sunburn easily or tan with difficulty, a record of painful or blistering sunburns as children or teenagers, and those with indoor occupations and outdoor recreational habits.

"Most people have a number of small colored spots on their bodies—moles, freckles, bir-

Welfare reform??

Welfare reform? This is an idea whose time has come.

Many people in Mississippi mention this to me during my trips home.

The purpose of reform is not to throw genuinely poor people off the welfare rolls. It should urge the poor, with appropriate assistance, to move from welfare to workfare to a real job wherever possible.

Welfare should help the elderly and the poor, and it should be a bridge to a private sector job for all others.

The current collection of programs designed to assist the needy cost more than $120 billion annually, but these programs are run in such an uncoordinated fashion that many who are not poor receive benefits intended for the poor.

Moreover, by failing to promote personal, family and community responsibility, these programs encourage dependency and entrench the very poverty they were intended to alleviate.

An effective pro-family anti-poverty program must both meet the legitimate subsistence needs of the poor and create an environment leading to less poverty and less dependence on government support.

This year the President has proposed, and Congress has been seriously considering, the matter of welfare reform.

In tackling this issue, I thought we would be talking about temporary assistance, job training, workfare and cutting the cost of the overall program.

Again it seems, however, that the Congress cannot resist subverting the original intent of a program and adding to its costs.

A sweeping bill recently was reported by the House Ways & Means Committee. It adds $5.2 billion in costs to the welfare structure, opposes workfare and gives very little latitude to the states in tailoring welfare programs to the particular needs of their citizens.

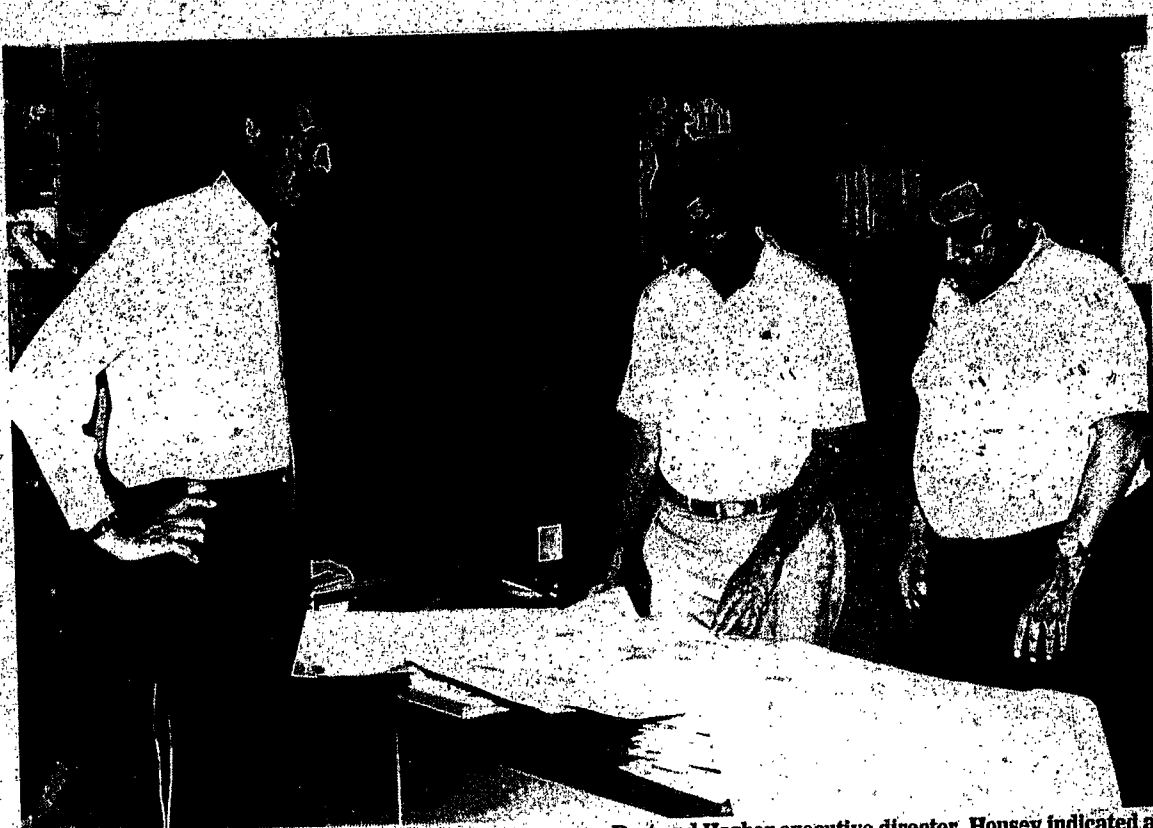

It even says that a person on welfare does not have to take a job if that action would pay less than the total a person receives from government assistance.

Where is the reform? This bill would imprison people on welfare.

In the meantime, I have been working with a group of my colleagues in the House in developing an alternative welfare reform bill, which embodies the principle that the best way to help people is to help them become productive and self-supporting.

Our proposal keys on employment and training, day care to facilitate that training for mothers, transition medical services until the recipient moves to the new private sector job and stringent child support enforcement.

It is clear that simply writing a check is not the remedy for poverty. I am very hopeful that real welfare reform can become a reality in the 100th Congress.

Two arrests solve burglary string

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department has solved about 15 burglaries and grand larcenies with two arrests.

According to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, two juveniles have been arrested and turned over to Hancock County Youth Court in connection with a string of burglaries that started June 29.

Both were about 16 years old, he added.

were retrieved on both the cash register and the door of the store. One black male suspect is described as 6 feet tall, wearing a dark colored sweat shirt and white shoes.

No description is available on the second suspect.

Anyone with information which may assist the police department in identifying these suspects is asked to call the police department, 467-9221.

Most of the crimes occurred in the BaySide Park and Shoreline Park areas, he said.

"We have recovered hundreds of dollars in merchandise," the sheriff said.

A third suspect is still being sought.

Peterson said as many as 20 burglaries may be involved.

The investigation is continuing with Sheriff's Department Investigator Delbert Seay in charge.

PVT BURTON

Pvt. 1st Class Melvina D. Burton, daughter of Leona M. Burton of 368 Hiern Ave., Pass Christian, has completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

She is a 1981 graduate of Xavier University, New Orleans.

White Cypress native, Lucis O. Necaise Jr. is a candidate for Hancock County coroner.

"I feel I'm qualified through my hospital experience and would appreciate your vote in the August primary," Necaise said.

He is a retired civil service employee and worked 23 years in the Veterans' Administration Hospital in Biloxi.

A graduate of Sellers High School, Necaise also attended Carr's Secretarial School in Gulfport.

He is a veteran of the Korean War and served in the United States Marine Corps for three years.

Necaise and his wife Jean have five children—Dale, Susan, Stevie, Cynthia and Ray.

ETV Brief

Jackson Museum
"Mississippi Roads" starts this week's show at the Mississippi Museum of Art in Jackson for a visit with the project director and designer of the new Impressions Gallery.

This "Roads" program, a rebroadcast from April, can be seen at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, July 7, on Mississippi ETV, and repeats at 2 p.m., Thursday, July 16.

Project director Janice Andry and designer Linda Trobaugh explain their involvement in the origins, design and development of the new gallery for "children of all ages."

Next, "Roads" is a guest of the Sierra Club as members David Lentz and Jim Trunzler of Jackson host a canoe trip down Black Creek and share some information about the club's activities.

Finally for the evening, Buddy Stewart, a fireman with Magnolia State Railway, and James Carlisle, an engineer with the railway, both of Amory, take viewers on a ride on the old steam train.

Farmweek
"Farmweek" will show some of the past year's best feature segments in a program to air at 7:30 p.m., Monday, July 6, on Mississippi ETV.

John Meek and Sheldon Fletcher, of Merigold, will show the techniques used in their new enterprise, growing oyster mushrooms. Meek and Fletcher are the only farmers raising mushrooms commercially in the state.

A Panola County gourd farm operated by Gilbert Bridges and Walter Russell, produces the "luffa" gourd, which can be used as a sponge when dried and processed. Bridges and Russell will discuss their plans for marketing this unusual farm product.

"Farmweek" field reporters will examine the round-the-clock ordeal of keeping catfish alive on a catfish farm managed by Robert Yant near Morgan City. Oxygen levels of catfish ponds must be monitored not only during daylight hours, but all through the night as well.

"Farmweek" provides current prices, market analyses, local and national agricultural news and weather forecasts for the coming week. The series is co-produced by Mississippi ETV and the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

SIR VORIS KING, Imperial Potentate of the Shrine of North America, elected June 23 at the 113th Imperial Council in Las Vegas, will be welcomed at Biloxi-Gulfport Regional Airport Tuesday at 11:55 a.m. King, a resident of Lake Charles, La. and son of former Louisiana governor A. BUDGET HEARING

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District will conduct a public hearing at 7 p.m. Monday to discuss the district's budget for the 1987-88 fiscal year.

The hearing will be in the superintendent's boardroom at Bay Senior High School.

PLANNING COMMISSION

The Hancock County Planning Commission, at its regular meeting Thursday, found itself with a quorum but little business.

The board approved its minutes and a monthly report on building permits issued, then adjourned.

The next meeting is 4 p.m. Aug. 27 in the Hancock County Courthouse.

MONDAY COURT

Cases scheduled for Monday in the Hancock County Justice Court will be heard beginning at 1 p.m. that day, according to Judge Joe Dobson.

Dobson noted while the Hancock County Courthouse offices will be closed Monday, Justice Court will convene at its usual location in the Russell Youth Court Building on Court Street, Bay St. Louis.

Also Monday, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors will meet as scheduled at 9 a.m. in the Courthouse boardroom.

I feel it's a misappropriation of funds."

He explained that he felt the windfall money had been awarded with the same purpose as the original loan, which was to cover sewage treatment costs.

He said he feels that the county's segment IV bill will not qualify because the work will be on a collection system.

Longo rose from his chair and objected to including the statement in the record, contending that the money could be used for any part of the project.

Kellar immediately called for a recess to an already planned special meeting scheduled for 6:30 p.m. July 8, then left the boardroom.

Frankiewicz had additional objections to allocation of the money to the county. One was that after providing the county with the same amount, $150,000 at an earlier meeting, the board had agreed informally to equitable distribution of the remaining $350,000.

The original $150,000 had been provided to make up for a cut in expected state funding for segment IV, which will be reduced from $400,000 to $250,000.

Frankiewicz said he felt the remaining money should have been used to reduce the interim financing the district will have to obtain due to the delay in receiving the FmHA funds.

Also, he objected because the county wastewater district recently established to finance the local share of segment IV will not begin producing revenue until 1988. Therefore, Frankiewicz said he sees no existing method for repaying the $150,000.

The title searches, calculated by the number of parcels of property involved, will cost about $30,000, he added. He said he does not understand where the district board arrived at the $150,000 figure.

"The basic point I'm making is that we are not being fully informed on the ramifications of the county system. This information is what I've been asking the engineer to give us for months," Frankiewicz explained.

He contended that the district had not known about the costs from the outset of segment IV planning.

He had also stated that the City of Bay St. Louis residents would be forced to pay more for the project because they would have to make up for interest lost if the funds were not invested and were used for another purpose.

He wanted to attach the current interest rate being used by lending institutions to the $150,000, with the county to pay that interest to the district.

Longo contended that because the $500,000 consisted of windfall funds, they could be used for any project related purpose, rather than only the costs for improvements of the treatment facility.

Schott verified Longo's statement, based on information she had received from state agencies involved in the project.

"According to what we understand, the state loan money can be used for any project expense," the administrator said.

Brian Engle, a Bureau of Pollution Control representative present at the meeting, agreed.

Schott said the reason the FmHA funds were being delayed was that officials at Farmer's Home had only recently decided that the county district would have to handle the bonds on segment IV rather than the regional district.

This decision was to enable the county to set the rules for the user payments, hook-up fees and requirements and other matters pertaining to the collection system, she added.

She said she was sorry to find that most people involved in the easement project are asking for appraisals because it has increased the expense.

"Because the construction of a collection system should considerably enhance the value of the property, we would expect that people would be willing to donate their easements," Schott stated.

Federal duck stamps cost more

JACKSON—When Mississippi duck hunters buy their next federal duck stamp, they will find the price has jumped to $10, an increase of $2.50. The price rise is just one of several increases that the federal stamp will take within the next several years in an effort to pump more money into the purchase of wetlands habitat across the United States.

The stamp increase will take effect July 1 when the 1987-88 federal duck stamps go on sale at post offices across the country. According to U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service officials, the stamp will cost $12.50 in 1989 and will rise to $15 by 1991.

Authorization for the federal duck stamp increases came from Congress in 1986 in an attempt to raise additional monies for the purchase of wetland areas for waterfowl.

Experts at the service say that current estimates indicate that nearly half a million acres of wetlands are being lost each year in the U.S.

All waterfowl hunters 16 years of age and over are required to purchase a federal duck stamp each year.

Federal duck stamp sales have averaged about $1.8 million in recent years.

Carey on the Coast sponsoring soccer camp

William Carey College soccer coach Doug Stovall has announced a soccer camp to be held at Milner Stadium in Gulfport Aug. 3-7.

The camp will be open to all players ages 8-17. Each day the camp will be divided into three sessions based on soccer league age categories: Session A, under 8 and under 10, 8:30-noon; Session B, under 12 and under 14, 1:30-5 p.m.; and Session C, under 16 and high school, 6-8 p.m.

The purpose of the camp is to provide a sound foundation of soccer skills to each camper. Emphasis will be on skill development.

Carey's first-year head coach Stovall will be the camp director. He has been involved in youth soccer programs for 10 years and was both coach and administrator for Mississippi Junior Olympic teams from 1982-85. Stovall has coached three Mississippi State Championship teams in the State Select League and is the head coach for Coke Express.

Miss State Parks Pageant scheduled

The State Bureau of Recreation and Parks is getting ready for the selection of Miss State Parks 1987.

Thirteen preliminary pageants were held in June and the 13 finalists will compete for the Miss State Parks title at the final pageant to be held in Jackson on July 11.

Kris Gains of Picayune will represent Buccaneer State Park in Waveland in the Jackson event.

The winner of the coveted title will receive a scholarship, a trip to the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City, and the opportunity to represent Mississippi State Parks at travel shows, tourism meetings, and special events at the parks throughout the year.

At the final pageant the 13 young women will compete in evening gown, swim, suit, interview, poise and an on-stage question.

Suzanne Lumpkin, Miss State Parks 1986, will sing and she will crown her successor.

Entertainment will be provided by Charlotte "Chalie" Ray of Hattiesburg who is a former Miss Mississippi and top ten finalist in the Miss America Pageant. She was a talent preliminary winner in the Miss America Pageant.

The winner of the pageant will receive her choice of a scholarship to William Carey, Belhaven, Mississippi University for Women, Ole Miss, Jackson State, University of Southern Mississippi, or Delta State.

Bassin' with the pros

by Trey Foerster

If you're any kind of hard-core angler, you've been to garage sales and through antique stores looking for those old lures your father used when you were a kid. A study of the tried-and-true lures of yesteryear can give any angler a solid foundation for which new "high tech" lures of today will be effective in catching bass.

I suppose there have been lure collectors around as long as there have been artificial lures to fish with. The "bible" of this field is Carl F. Luckey's Old Fishing Lures and Tackle, the scope of which covers artificial lures beginning in 1890 and ending in the early 1950s. It covers thousands of lures from the A-B-C Minnow through the Mills Yellow Kid. And if you don't think bassmen aren't interested in collecting lures, you'll be surprised to find that the forward is penned by "Mr. Bass" himself, Ray Scott, B.A.S.S. president.

"I don't actively collect lures, but I have a good number and I collect them from various sources," admits Ken Cook, member of the Evinrude Outboards Pro Team. "One day, I'm going to put some of them on display and take care of them like they should be taken care of. It's something that a person who has a lot of hobby time—especially someone who lives in the northern part of the country where they have a long winter—would enjoy."

Cook adds that the study of old lure designs could be very beneficial for the angler.

"If you compare a lot of the old lures with the modern ones you'll discover that the basic designs haven't changed much. If you look at old lures, they're lures that have appealed to fish for years and years and years, and they're gonna keep on catching fish. The characteristics of tried and true lures still catch fish today.

Old Fishing Lures and Tackle is an identification and value guide for manufactured lures used since the earliest days of their production the United States. Essential for the beginner is the general chronology of lure development, brief introductory-essays titled "The Tackle Collector's Primer," "Defining Your Collection" and one on displaying a collection of lures.

Essential information for all anglers is the selected bibliography, a listing of useful periodicals, sources for old books and magazines, and addresses for tackle manufacturers past and present. Section II covers fishing reels in 38 pages of history, identification, anatomy and representative values. Section III encompasses the fishing rod in a mere four pages (the first edition had better coverage). Section IV gets to the meat of lures through history, patent illustrations, general guidelines for identifying and dating, discussion of plastic lures, lure identification and classification, anatomy of a lure, and an alpha value listing by manufacturer. Whew!

Not only is this tome heavily illustrated by photos and drawings, but there are eight color plates ready to entice you. No serious fisherman's library ought to be without this reference! Unlike coins or stamps, if you tire of collecting lures you can always take them along with you on your next outing and put them to work!

An autographed copy of the paperback book is available at $16.50 postpaid from the author at Rt. 4 Box 301 Dept. BWP, Killen, AL 35645, and for those interested in the national lure collecting organization write: National Fishing Lure Collectors Club, P.O. Box 1791, Dearborn, MI 48121. For those anglers wanting a periodical on tackle collecting, please write: Antique Angler, P.O. Box K Dept. BWP, Stockton, NJ 08559-0350.

Military Mention

PFC ELWOOD

Marine Pfc. Jack M. Elwood, son of Dorothy N. Shirley of Route 3, Pass Christian, recently reported for duty with 1st Marine Division, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

A 1986 graduate of Grover Cleveland High School, Portland, Ore., he joined the Marine Corps in September 1986.

State lakes report good fishing

JACKSON—By now most Mississippi anglers are aware that several months ago a new state record largemouth bass weighing fourteen pounds-twelve ounces was caught at Tiptah County near Ripley.

The lunker bass was hauled in by Perry Reed of Ripley using bait casting tackle and a plastic worm.

However, while Tiptah County Lake is getting a lot of attention from all this, what many state fishermen don't know is that the system of state lakes is responsible for several other state record fish, as well as a lot of good recreation.

The state-record red ear was caught in August 1963 by L. R. Barnes of Collins from Lake Mike Conner. The fish weighed two pounds-nine ounces.

Newly-elected Commission on Wildlife Conservation Chairman S. T. Rayburn of Oxford said that long-term, professional management of these 21 state-owned or leased lakes has been responsible for most of the continued good fishing on these waters.

Chief of freshwater fisheries Ron Garavelli agrees.

"These lakes are continually monitored by our fisheries biologists, technicians, and managers so that we can detect potential problems before they can grow into troublesome nightmares that affect the overall recreational enjoyment at the lake," commented fisheries chief Ron Garavelli.

He said that certain things are done on all lakes each year.

"Our lakes are fertilized on a regular schedule between April and September, and all impoundments are limed once every three years," Garavelli said.

He added that in addition to all this, state lakes are checked annually for aquatic weed problems and the fish population balance is monitored each year.

Mississippi's state lakes offer outstanding fishing on over 5,000 acres of picturesque waters that range in size from 12 to 1,200 acres.

For more information on these lakes and the recreation they offer, write the Fisheries Division, Department of Wildlife Conservation, P.O. Box 451, Jackson, MS 39205, or call 961-5300.

SENIOR TRAVEL CLUB

Monday, July 13 the seniors are going to the dogs! (In Mobile). The bus leaves the center at 9:30 a.m. and the price is $20 which includes transportation, lunch and program. There is no guarantee of winning a million, but there will be lots of fun.

Wednesday, July 22 is cruise time. The trip is from New Orleans on the Creole Queen and includes supper for $36. Departure from the center is 2 p.m.

Coming up is the trip to Hawaii

September 1 and in November the trip plans are incomplete to go to St. Augustine, Fla.

BIBLE CLASS

Don't forget our new leader, the Rev. Spencer from the Diamondhead Episcopal Church. His class at the center is on Thursday mornings. Come and join us.

ID CARDS

We can give you an ID card with your picture on it to assist with check cashing if you have no driver's license. It also says you are over 60. Please call before coming to make sure we have someone here who can take your picture. 467-0292.

GAMES

Our regular games will be the 10th and 24th of July at 12:30 p.m. We play for prizes and white elephants. A donation of 25 cents is requested and you get an extra card if you bring a white elephant.

We also serve refreshments, so come on over and have some fun with us on the second and fourth Fridays.

Quality Circles chapter slates organizational meet

The International Association of Quality Circles (IAQC), an international professional organization dedicated to fostering employee involvement in quality and productivity in the workplace has organized a Gulf Coast Chapter.

A kick-off meeting for the chapter will be held at Diamondhead Country Club on Thursday, July 9. All interested employees, supervisors and managers are invited.

Featured speakers are Bay St.

Louis Mayor Victor Frankiewicz and IAQC Mighty Mississippi Chapter President Liz Wilson. Ms. Wilson is also Chair of the 1987 Excellence in Mississippi Conference to be held in Jackson in October.

Lunch will be served at 11:30 a.m. with the program to follow at 12:30 p.m. Interested people are encouraged to come to the lunch or meeting, or both. For more information, contact Marco Giardino at (601) 688-1937.

Now, Mobile Medic and Amserv give you twice the protection for one low price.

Mobile Medic and Amserv have joined forces to give your family year-round protection anywhere on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

If you're already a member of Mobile Medic or Amserv, you now have twice as many reasons to renew your membership.

And if you're not already a member, we've given you twice as many reasons to join.

Because starting now, when you join one of our ambulance services, you automatically become a member of the other at no extra charge.

If you need an ambulance west of Debuys Road, Mobile Medic will respond. East of Debuys Road, Amserv will respond to your call.

No matter where you are in Hancock, Harrison and Jackson Counties, your family will get free emergency ambulance service any time you need it.

And all for one low annual price:

Just $39.

Emergency care: free to members. . $425 to others.

A typical bill for ambulance service and emergency treatment runs around $425.

That's before you get your bills from the hospital, emergency room, or physician.

Your insurance or Medicare may only cover part of the cost. But your membership to Mobile Medic and Amserv covers your entire ambulance bill. You pay absolutely nothing.

And for an entire year, your membership covers you, your spouse, and all your unmarried children under 21 who live at home.

Why pay for service that you can get for free?

Mobile Medic and Amserv are the only ambulance services operating on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

We handle emergency medical treatment for everyone in our area, including non-members.

But while non-members pay for all treatment, supplies and ambulance service, our members pay nothing above the annual $39 membership fee for local service.

If you call us only once in eleven years, your membership will have paid for itself. That's why it's smart to join now.

You must respond by July 31st.

We can only accept memberships once a year. This year's deadline is July 31st.

Over 15,000 Gulf Coast families belong to either Mobile Medic or Amserv. And now that we've joined forces, our members will begin enjoying free ambulance service in all three Gulf Coast Counties. That's twice the protection, for one low price.

So we invite you to renew your membership now. Or to sign up with us for the first time, if you're not currently a member.

Fill out the application below and send it with your check today.

Mobile Medic's service area is west of Debuys Road. Amserv's service area is east of Debuys Road. But now, when you join one, you automatically get a free membership in the other at no charge. So your family is covered anywhere on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, in Hancock, Harrison, and Jackson Counties.

New course teaches sensible nutrition

The American Red Cross is offering a new course designed to teach families how to eat right.

The Red Cross Chapter is offering the Better Eating for Better Health series of classes starting Monday, July 27, at 10 a.m. at County Extension Office, 725-A Dunbar Avenue, Bay St. Louis.

Working mothers, busy housewives and pregnant women should find the six-class series particularly helpful. Such topics as "How to Feed a Family Quick, Nutritional Meals," "Healthy Eating for Expectant Mothers," and "How to Feed a Picky Eater" are some of the variety of topics covered, according to Darlene Underwood, county home economist.

"With today's health-conscious attitudes, people really want to know more about proper nutrition," says Underwood. "People want to learn more than the four basic food groups. This new Red Cross course goes into greater detail, yet shows how simple it is for busy families to coordinate their eating habits and have proper nourishment each day."

For more details about Better Eating for Better Health, or to register for the next series of classes, contact Underwood at the County Extension office, 467-5456.

87-88 Membership Application

West of Debuys Road make your $39 check or money order payable to Mobile Medic. East of Debuys Road, make your $39 check or money order payable to Amserv. You will automatically be a member of both.

Complete application and mail to:
Mobile Medic/Amserv P.O. Box 4907, Biloxi, MS 39535-4907
(Sorry, no memberships can be accepted after July 31.)

Please enroll me as a 1987-88 Mobile Medic/Amserv Member as indicated: I understand that only a husband, wife and all my unmarried children under 21 living at home qualify for family membership.

Payment of $39 membership fee entitles a member to local ground ambulance transportation at no direct cost. Ambulance service must be medically necessary, as determined by the provider, and shall include patients who are non-ambulatory or have a medical condition which requires transport by ambulance. Ground transportation outside of the provider's local service area will be provided at a discounted rate. This service is not permitted if the ambulance company to collect payment for services rendered directly from any insurance or other third party medical benefits provider at no charge to the member. The ambulance company will bill the third party directly and at non-member rates. If a member has no medical benefits coverage for his services rendered, he/she is still entitled to the free ambulance services outlined in our brochure. Membership is non-transferable and non-refundable.

PECK MARSHALL

Leetown resident seeking West District judgeship

L. O. "Peck" Marshall of Leetown has announced his candidacy for Hancock County Justice Court judge, Western District. He is the son of the late Frank and Jane Marshall of Nicholson, a United States Air Force veteran with four years experience. He is an air policeman. Mr. Marshall has been a resident of the Leetown Community for the past 24 years. Married to the former Bobbie Jean Lee, he has three step-children, Allan Hyatt, Sheila and Shirley. He is a member of Lee's Chapel No. 2 Baptist Church of Leetown, and a member for over 20 years of Carpenters Local 1849, New Orleans, La.

"I humbly seek your vote and support for judge. If elected, I will work and study to the best that I can be by the help of our Lord. I will be fair and impartial to everyone," Mr. Marshall stated.

Pass Rotary Club installs officers

The Pass Christian Rotary Club held its annual installation banquet Tuesday evening at the Pass Christian Yacht Club. Officers and directors for 1987-1988 include: Charles M. Taylor, president; James Moyer, vice president; Harold Battalora, secretary; Jeff Emerson, treasurer; Paul G. Bode, past president; Donald Rogers, sergeant-at-arms; and Warren J. Alford, John Drevar, C. Randall Jones Jr., William Kidd, Leroy Litzana, John Mykolyk, Robert Nay, Dayton Robinson, Ernest Russell, Lee Stanbro, and Charles R. Gallagher Jr., directors. Dennis Inkel conducted the installation ceremony.

The program was presented by Charles M. Taylor and Dr. G. D. Taylor Jr., who addressed the commitment of the Pass Christian club and the Rotary organization to the Polio Plus Program and the impact and prevention of this disease. A highlight of the evening was the awarding of Paul Harris Fellowships to B. B. McWhorter and Mrs. Margaret Inkel. Pass Christian Rotary meets every Tuesday at noon at Annie's Restaurant on Henderson Point. For details call Charles M. Taylor at 482-2686.

July commodity distribution scheduled

USDA Commodities, cheese, butter, flour, honey and rice, will be distributed on July 22, at the American Legion in Waveland from 9:30 a.m. until all commodities are distributed but no later than 2 p.m. The weight of each bag is 21 pounds. If you cannot carry this, do not come because we will not have enough people to carry them for you. Because of the weight of the bag we will allow only one bag per person at a time," according to a spokesman for Hancock County Welfare Department, coordinators of the program. All food stamps households are eligible and will receive their vouchers with their stamps. Any low income household may apply for the commodities at the Welfare Department after July 17. Participants should bring signed vouchers to receive commodities. If a person wishes to have someone else to pick up commodities they must sign the front and the back of the voucher and write in the name of the person who is to pick up the commodities.

Dollar General Store moving

The Bay St. Louis Dollar General Store will move to a new location in Bay Mall Shopping Center next to Doug Lee's Grocery on US-90. The store will open July 9. Dollar General Store offers affordable merchandise including clothing, soft goods, shoes, housewares, health and beauty aids and home cleaning products. Prices are low on irregular and closeout merchandise.

Lions Elect New International President

Judge Brian Stevenson, of Calgary, Alberta, Canada, was elected president of The International Association of Lions Clubs at the association's 70th convention, held in Taipei, Taiwan, Republic of China, July 1-4, 1987. As president of the world's largest service club organization, Stevenson will lead over 1.3 million volunteer members in 162 countries and geographical areas. He'll also represent the association in meetings with heads of state, community leaders and other dignitaries. During Stevenson's travels in the coming year, he'll observe Lion service projects worldwide, and promote international Lion efforts in drug education and diabetes awareness and research, as well as traditional programs serving the blind and hearing impaired. A major objective during his term, says Stevenson, is renewing members' pride and their commitment to the Lion motto, "WE SERVE."

Genin-Cuevas

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church was the setting for the June 6 afternoon marriage of Nancy Marie Cuevas and Charles Anthony Genin, both of Bay St. Louis. The Reverend Johnny Plana officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. E. J. Livaudais of Bay St. Louis. The groom's parents are Mrs. Berna Genin Feeney of Bay St. Louis and the late Alvin Genin Sr.

Decorating the sanctuary were fan-shaped arrangements of gladioli, fugi mums, carnations and baby's breath.

Mrs. John McKenna presented nuptial music.

Escorted to the altar by her uncle, Mr. Lee V. Lindsey, the bride wore an ivory tea-length gown of chandelle. It featured a high neckline, sheer yoke and long fitted sleeves. The tiered lace skirt was attached to a dropped waistline and was fashioned with scalloped border at the hemline.

A veil of silk illusion was held in place by a headpiece of tiny roses, white baby's breath and pearl sprays.

She carried a colonial-style bouquet of bridal roses, freesia and baby's breath with ivy.

Mrs. Sheree D. Monte of Baton Rouge, La., cousin of the bride, was matron of honor.

She was attired in a tea-length baby blue taffeta dress with V-neckline and puffed sleeves and carried a nosegay of roses and baby's breath in pink, blue, and white.

Alvin (Tiger) Genin Jr. of Pass Christian, brother of the groom, was best man.

Ushers were Larry Genin of Gretna, La., brother of the groom, and Barney Kneese of Bay St. Louis, uncle of the groom.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the groom's mother.

Bilbo-Ladner

Annunciation Catholic Church in Kiln was the setting for the recent marriage of Tangelia Schrell Ladner of Dallas, Tex., formerly of Necaise Crossing, and Terrance Bilbo of Lancaster, Calif., formerly of Kiln. The Reverend Antone Lynch officiated at the afternoon double ring ceremony and celebrated a Nuptial Mass.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burnell Ray Ladner of Necaise Crossing. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hubert H. Bilbo of Kiln.

Decorating the sanctuary were standing baskets of white gladioli and carnations with lavender accents, and gothic candelabra entwined with ivy.

Musical selections were presented by organist and pianist, Paula Faye Necaise, and soloist, Candy McNease.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal gown of white chiffon over taffeta with high lace collar on a sheer yoke of English net. The fitted bodice was overlaid with rasha and chantilly laces and Juliet sleeves were tapered at the wrist. A pyramid of lace adorned the front of the bouffant skirt with chiffon ruffle forming the hemline. A lace panel extended from the back waist to the edge of the cathedral train.

She wore a Victorian hat with side swept brim secured with silk roses, with face veil and illusion pouf and streamers.

The bride carried a cascade of white silk roses, stephanotis, baby's breath and English ivy with accents of lavender peruviana and lace and satin streamers.

Tammy Ladner of Waveland was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Tonya Ladner of Necaise Crossing, sister of the bride; Kathy Schwab of Dallas, Tex.; Kim Barnes of Poplarville; Dana Mauffray of Kiln, niece of the groom; and Colleen Kelly of San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Nicole Mauffray of Kiln, niece of the groom was flower girl.

The attendants were attired in formal gowns of lilac ice taffeta, with the rasha lace ruffle forming a portrait neckline, fitted bodice above a full bouffant skirt featuring pick-ups revealing rows of ruffled rasha lace.

They carried hand-painted fans decorated with lavender silk roses, peruviana, baby's breath and lace and satin streamers and wore matching floral headpieces.

The flower girl was attired in a similar gown and wore a wreath of silk flowers and dropped rose petals from a white wicker basket.

Hubert Bilbo served his son as best man.

Groomsmen were Ronnie Bilbo of Kiln, brother of the groom; Richard Cameron Jr. of Jackson; Todd Holden of Kiln; Cletus Haas of Hattiesburg and Gene Mikoville of Jourdan River, brother-in-law of the groom.

Darby Ladner, brother of the bride, was usher.

Ring bearer was Joshua Cuevas of Dallas, Tex.

A reception followed at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall in Kiln. Assisting was Keri Stockstill of Kiln, niece of the groom.

On return from a wedding trip to Maui, Hawaii, the couple resides in Lancaster, Calif.

MR. AND MRS. TERRANCE BILBO

McAtee-Counsellour

Leigh Annette Counsellour of Dallas, Tex., became the bride of Michael Curtis McAtee, also of Dallas, May 23 at St. Rita Catholic Church in that city. The Reverend David Lawrence S. J. and the Reverend John Heaney celebrated a Nuptial Mass and officiated at the double ring afternoon ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Lee Counsellour of Dallas. The groom's parents are Gloria McAtee of Kiln and Floyd C. McAtee of Chicago, Ill.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal wedding gown fashioned with fitted applique bodice and sheer puffed sleeves with organza skirt. A lily-of-the-valley design was featured on the skirt and sweep train. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was held in place by a crescent of Elizabethan garland with bridal tulle and lily-of-the-valley appliques.

The bride carried a bouquet of lily-of-the-valley and baby's breath with greenery.

Susan Gibson of Jacksonville, N. C. was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Sandy Staszkievicz and Jeanmarie Powers, both of Dallas.

The attendants were identically attired in formal gowns of lavender organza, and carried nosegays of lavender and pink silk blossoms.

Joe Butler of Dallas served the groom as best man.

Groomsmen were Rick Campbell and David Zeek, both of Dallas. Ushers were Fred Burke, Rick Garsea, Roy Patricio and David Swinney, all of Dallas.

Following a wedding trip to the Virgin Islands, the couple resides in Dallas, where the groom is employed with Texas Instruments.

Heat exhaustion

Summer heat can be dangerous

Karen L. Moore
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

MISSISSIPPI STATE—The hot Mississippi summer is here along with the hazard of becoming too hot and suffering from hyperthermia.

Although many people enjoy the heat, prolonged exposure to it can cause heat exhaustion, heat stroke and heart failure. Infants, the elderly and people in poor health are at higher risk, according to information from the U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs.

Normal highs during the summer steadily increase and peak at 94 degrees Fahrenheit on Aug. 1 and then begin decreasing, according to Dr. Charles Wax, a professor of geography and the state climatologist at Mississippi State University.

"High temperatures combined with high humidity make it even more uncomfortable," Wax said. "Sixty percent humidity is considered extremely humid."

The danger of hyperthermia increases when the temperature exceeds 90 F with high humidity. With 80 percent humidity and the air temperature at 75 F the apparent temperature is 80 F, making fatigue possible, Wax said. At 70 percent humidity and the air temperature at 90 F the apparent temperature is 106 F, making sunstroke, heat exhaustion and cramps possible.

At 60 percent humidity and air temperature of 100 F the apparent temperature is 132 F, making sunstroke, heat exhaustion and cramps likely. Overexertion when the apparent temperature is over 132 F could quickly bring on these symptoms.

When it is so humid, sweat on the body cannot evaporate because the air is not dry enough, Wax said. Sweating is the way the body keeps itself cool.

People at particular risk include those with conditions such as diabetes, heart disease, arteriosclerosis, high blood pressure, Parkinson's disease, stroke, overweight, burns, skin diseases, conditions that reduce capacity to sweat, alcoholism and diarrhea. People who must work outside in extreme heat are also at risk.

"Also people taking some medications, particularly the elderly, are more susceptible to heat stress," said Dr. Carol Short, energy program specialist for the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. "Those medications would be for conditions such as cardiovascular problems, nervousness, depression or while taking antihistamines."

Short provided the following suggestions to enjoy the summer and prevent hyperthermia:

Stay inside and out of direct sunlight.

Keep the inside temperature no hotter than 78 F.

Visit cool places such as the public library or shopping malls.

Use natural cooling and ventilation as much as possible.

Wear lightweight, loose-fitting cotton clothing. If in direct sun add a protective hat.

Sit in front of an electric fan. Drink small amounts of water and fruit juices often and drink more than is necessary to satisfy thirst. Aim for a gallon of liquid per day. Avoid alcoholic beverages and those with caffeine such as coffee and tea.

Limit physical activity to the cooler part of the day.

Check on the elderly you know; if you are elderly ask someone to check on you.

Short said signs of hyperthermia include:

High body temperature and flushed skin;

Weakness, heavy perspiration and nausea;

Dizziness, fatigue and sudden faintness;

Sharp pains in the arms and stomach area; and Headache, rapid pulse and loss of consciousness.

All the symptoms are serious and anyone having even one symptom should seek medical attention, Short said.

JEWEL MCCALDER is presented with the secretarial chair which she has used for the past 29 years in the Bay-Waveland School District from Dr. Roger Oge, school superintendent. Mrs. McCalder, who is retiring at the end of this month, was honored at a farewell party given by the faculty and staff of Bay Junior High in recognition of her dedicated service to the school system. Mrs. McCalder served as secretary to the superintendent under Mr. S. J. Ingram for eight years and then as secretary to the principal under Mr. Robert Magee, Mr. Bill Terry and Mr. W. J. Cameron over the remaining 21 years.

Fast cholesterol measurement available at Slidell Memorial

The newest front in the heart disease war is being pegged by researchers as the battle to keep blood cholesterol levels low.

Slidell Memorial Hospital, in an effort to increase awareness of the role of cholesterol in heart disease, recently purchased a Reflotron, a device that quickly measures the amount of cholesterol in a person's blood.

The test takes under three minutes to complete and requires only a finger stick and a few drops of blood to analyze the cholesterol. Several screening programs are being planned in Slidell and the surrounding areas, including free screenings at the LaCombe Crab Festival, June 27-28. Screenings will soon be available on a walk-in basis at the Sports Medicine Center at Slidell Memorial Hospital.

Recent research has revealed that high blood cholesterol is a major risk factor in the development of coronary artery disease. Early detection is necessary to determine those individuals who are at risk. Early detection means earlier treatment by a physician to stem the high risk of heart disease.

Slidell Memorial Hospital is adding the cholesterol screening program to its already extensive cardiovascular services. Since its inception, the cardiovascular unit of the hospital has performed 1,223 cardiac catheterizations and 164 open heart surgeries.

In addition, Slidell Memorial Hospital recently implemented a Cardiac Rehabilitation program to help patients with cardiac problems live as normal and full a life as possible. The program also offers community education seminars and events to aid the public's understanding of heart disease and its prevention.

Clubs, Auxiliaries

Ladies Auxiliary, Veterans of WW I

The Ladies Auxiliary to Veterans World War I, USA No. 2537 met at the home of member Pauline Charing, past national president on June 25 for the regular monthly meeting, with president Lois Fallo presiding.

Plans for an upcoming Veterans World War I convention to be held in Oklahoma City, Okla. Aug. 23-27 at the Sheraton Century Hotel were discussed. Delegates to attend were chosen.

Refreshments were served and the hostess was surprised with a birthday cake and gift.

The next monthly meeting is to be held July 23 at 3 p.m. at the home of Una Harris on Longfellow Drive.

Clermont Ladies Guild

Members of the Clermont Ladies Guild met last week at the home of Mrs. J. C. Goodloe, Clermont Harbor, for a delicious buffet luncheon and an afternoon of games.

During a brief business session Mrs. Robert Taconi was elected to serve as president; Mrs. William Hero, secretary; and Mrs. J. C. Goodloe, treasurer. Mrs. A. M. Thomas will continue as publicity chairlady.

The group decided to meet one day a month throughout the year. Next meeting will be in July, the date to be announced later.

Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary Convention

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and Ladies Auxiliary held their state convention June 26-28 at the Coliseum Ramada Inn in Jackson.

Elected to serve as state commander was Charles Royce of Columbia, while Mrs. Florence Bennett of Benton will serve as state president. Commander Royce is a member of Cecil Aubrey Fiveash Post 3933 and Mrs. Bennett is a member of Ray Davis Auxiliary 4302 Yazoo City.

Other officers elected to serve with Bennett are: senior vice president, Lee Melton of Lyman C. Bradford Jr. Auxiliary 2434, Biloxi; junior vice president, Jo Ann Grimes of John Q. Long Auxiliary 4057, Tupelo; and chaplain, Rita Watson of Stonestreet-Rone Auxiliary 1983, Kosciusco.

Also conductress, Gayle Rinewalt of Robert C. Nail Auxiliary 687, Jackson; guard, Audrey Heyd of Auxiliary 4808, Ansley; and treasurer, Edna Shull of Clarksdale.

Chief-of-staff will be Mrs. Hilda Rinewalt, a past state president and member of Robert C. Nail Auxiliary 687.

Mrs. Janice White was appointed secretary of the department auxiliary. She is a past state president and member of Greene County Memorial Auxiliary 7018, Leakesville.

Crafty Homemakers Extension Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Crafty Homemakers Extension Club was held on Monday, June 29 at the home of Mrs. Beatrice Ladner.

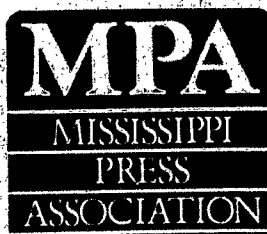

Mrs. Minnie Geiger, president, opened the meeting and the Homemakers' Creed was recited by the members followed by the Pledge of Allegiance. Mrs. Roslyn Weathers, secretary-treasurer, read the minutes of the previous meeting as well as the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Marguerite Fayard and Mrs. Winona Weinmann were welcomed by the members; they had been absent because of illness.

Plans were made for the months of July and August and further notice will be communicated to the members shortly.

We began the Christmas project and accomplished quite a lot when we stopped for lunch. Mrs. Luther Ladner prepared a delicious lunch for the members in honor of Mrs. Beatrice Ladner's birthday.

IRS suggests guidelines for tax shelter investors

Due to increased penalties contained in the 1986 Tax Reform Act, participation in an abusive tax shelter is more hazardous than ever, the Internal Revenue warns.

IRS defines abusive tax shelters as marketing schemes that involve artificial transactions with little or no economic reality, which frequently make use of unrealistic allocations, inflated appraisals, losses in connection with nonrecourse loans, or mismatching of income and deductions.

Investing in an abusive tax shelter may be an expensive proposition when all of the consequences are considered, IRS noted. For example, the promoter generally charges a substantial fee. If the return is examined by the IRS and a tax deficiency is determined, the taxpayer will then be faced with payment of the tax, interest on the underpayment, plus the possible application of severe penalties, including those for negligence or civil fraud. In the most aggravated situations, IRS may recommend prosecution for criminal tax violations.

Since there are many abusive tax shelters and more are developed daily by promoters, it is not possible to list all the factors a taxpayer should consider in determining whether an offering is an abusive tax shelter. However, one should ask the following questions, which might provide a clue to the abusive nature of the plan.

- 1) Do the tax benefits far outweigh the economic benefits?
- 2) Is this a transaction you would seriously consider, apart from the tax benefits, if you hoped to make a profit?

- 3) Do shelter assets really exist and, if so, are they insured for less than their purchase price?
- 4) Is there a nontax justification for the way profits and losses are allocated to partners?
- 5) Do the facts and supporting documents make economic sense? In that connection, are there sales and resales of the tax shelter property at ever increasing prices?

- 6) Does the investment plan involve a gimmick device, or sham to hide the economic reality of the transaction?
- 7) Does the promoter offer to backdate documents after the close of the year and are you instructed to backdate checks covering investment?

- 8) Is your debt a real debt or are you assured by the promoter that you will never have to pay it?
- 9) Does this transaction involve laundering United States source income through foreign corporations incorporated in a tax haven and owned by United States shareholders?

It's Hard To Live Comfortably With Dinosaurs.

Replace Your Old Air Conditioner And Gas Furnace With The Electric Heat Pump.

Having a dinosaur of an old air conditioning unit outside and a prehistoric gas furnace inside can be very uncomfortable. It's also sending your energy bills through the roof. You should cool your home this summer with a high-efficiency electric heat pump. It provides a constant, even cooling in your home, unlike draftier stop-and-go air conditioners. Heat pumps are also quieter, more economical and heat homes in winter. So ditch those dinosaurs. Replace them with the modern, energy-efficient electric heat pump.

TEEN TALK

Date Problems—
Prompt
QuestionsBy Ann F. Jarratt
4-H Youth Development
Specialist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Dating is important to many teens. You think and talk about it a lot.

Dating isn't always easy or fun. When you first begin to date, you may feel uncomfortable. You may have trouble finding something to talk about and may not know exactly how to act. There are two remedies to those situations—be interested in your date and be your natural self. Make a conscious effort on the other person, you're likely to forget your own uneasiness.

Several people have asked what is an appropriate age for teenagers to begin dating. There's no easy answer for that. It depends on the people involved. Several things besides age should be considered. Maturity is one of those things. Can you be trusted to do what you say you will do and where you say you will be when you say you will?

Another is what your parents consider to be an acceptable age for dating. Their ideas may be different from yours, so keep lines of communication (talking and listening) open between you and your parents. That way sometimes compromises can be reached that will satisfy both you and your parents.

Provide opportunities for your parents to get to know your friends. Then they may not be so afraid for you to be out with them. Encourage your parents to get to know your friends' parents. That may help, too. At least one or two teens wanted to know how to handle the next step after being allowed to date—how do you get someone you like to ask you out or agree to go out with you? Be friendly, be interested in other people, take part in school and community activities—be yourself.

If someone doesn't like you as you are and you try to be like someone else, you may discover that you're a lot more comfortable with the real you. In the long run, you'll be better off to wait until you meet someone who likes you just as you are. True friendships can only happen between real people, not made-up personalities.

Several people have asked questions about breaking up with a boy/girl friend. There probably is no "painless" way. Any time a relationship changes it usually causes pain. The best thing to do is be honest. Tell him/her your true feelings—that you're not ready to date just one person; that you can't handle a serious relationship at this time in your life; that you're fighting too much and the relationship is causing more unhappiness than happiness.

Remember, that although the person may try to make you feel that you're ruining his/her life forever, you have every right to do what you believe to be best for you. Also, you cannot take responsibility for someone else's happiness. Only that person can choose to be happy or unhappy.

Once you make the break, stick with your decision. Don't be wishywashy and give the person false hopes that things may be the same again if you know they won't. Someone else wrote about a problem with a guy who was a good friend until he started trying to change the relationship into a "boyfriend/girlfriend" relationship. Again, honesty is the best and kindest policy. Talk privately with the guy and explain how valued his friendship is and how too much togetherness is going to kill even the friendship if he doesn't "cool" the boyfriend hit.

Teens are wondering about the advantages or disadvantages of going steady. Some of the advantages I hear mentioned are: you always know you have a date for special occasions; it gives you a sense of security to have someone who cares about you; you have an excuse for turning down people you don't want to go out with; and you can work on developing that one relationship.

Some of the disadvantages seem to be: your steady takes up all of your time and acts like he/she owns you; the relationship develops too fast into too much intimacy; you miss out on too much of school life because you become more like a married couple; and you don't develop many friendships with your own sex because you are always with your steady.

Try writing down your own list of pros and cons. Look at them in light of your personal goals while in high school and then think how they will affect your life goals. Be honest.
